

Electrolysis Eliminates Unwanted Hair With Unsurpassed Results

You may be asking yourself, “Treating one hair at a time—that will take forever.” Electrolysis is unique in that it is your assurance that once a follicle is treated successfully and rendered inactive, it will not grow another hair. Electrolysis does not cure the causes of unwanted hair, but I do stress commitment and consistency of treatments in order to achieve optimum results. Once an area is completed, it is normal for a person to have periodic general clean up treatments from time to time.

Laser Hair Removal or Electrolysis— which one is better? I have encountered this question hundreds of times. I know what you’re thinking – “Oh she’s an electrologist, of course she would say that electrolysis is the way to go!” I encourage you to research and make comparisons and be an informed consumer. You will walk away with additional information in your decision-making process. Your decision will then be made based on what is best for you and your particular circumstances.

To maintain the highest professional standards, I attend continuing education seminars to keep current in the field and to retain my designation as a CPE (Certified Professional Electrologist). A practitioner with these credentials; is your assurance that you have put your trust in an individual who has voluntarily placed his/her knowledge and skill against national standards and has emerged equal or better. National Board Certification has long been the guide to consumer of health-related services.

When it comes to permanent hair removal, Electrolysis still remains the Gold Standard. It is an individualized treatment and not selective because it is the safe and effective hair removal method for all hair - dark, blond, white and red and all skin types, light and dark. Electrolysis can rid you of unwanted hair and will make you look and feel better about yourself.

Not only is Electrolysis the best option for permanent hair removal as recognized by the FDA, I will also work with you every step of the way to customize your treatment to ensure that you attain your desired look. With Electrolysis, all the experience and personal attention you need to address your unwanted hair concerns are available using the most trusted, time-honored hair removal method. One thing is for certain, when people look in the mirror, they want to feel good about themselves. Electrologists make this happen. Our service is not considered a luxury, but rather a necessity.

In my practice, I use the most current, state-of-the-art computerized technology with techniques customized for each skin and hair type for unrivaled comfort and results. Since your concerns are of utmost importance; strict Infection Control Standards are in place and I use only prepackaged, single-use disposable probes and disposable treatment products.
